WEATHER—Unsettled weather tonight and Thursday; probably occasional showers. Warmer tonight in southern portion.

The Foraker lion and the Taft lamb have changed their minds

Bellamy Storer, Poulney Bigelow, J. Ralph Burton and E. H. Harriman are all keeping very quiet these days.

The retirement of Castro from the game, is much more important than the death of the little South American ruler would be.

The report is denied that the Pacific coast people are waiting to attend the Jamestown exposition by way of the Panama canal.

Senator Rayner does not seem to agree with Col. John Temple Graves as to the superlative unmistakableness of Col. Bryan.

The proposition to amalgamate the Central American republics under a strong protectorate, would be all right if they could get one strong enough to hold 'em.

The fellow with the didn't-know-it was loaded-gun has laid aside for a season and gone to rocking the boat. The force of fool killers seem inadequate to cope with the increasing supply.

Boss Cox and the Cincinnati boodle contingent of the Republican party are all up in the air over the lightning changes in the political situation in Ohio and the wires are kept hot with sizzling messages to and from the White House by son-in-law Longworth. Let us have peace.

Suppose firstly, Mr. Taft is elected president; suppose secondly, Mr. Roosevelt is elected Senator; suppose thirdly, Senator Roosevelt calls to see President Taft, and the President happens to be busy talking to "Bat" Masterson, but it is impossible to suppose what might happen then.

Damages to the amount of $35,000 have just been assessed against the New York Central railroad by a New York jury for the destruction of "the lower third of a leg". That is said to be the largest verdict ever given for a like injury. What would it have been, had the middle or upper third been the portion lost?

Since the "captains of industry" have found that the people of this country propose to take more notice of the way they have been systematically robbed by them, said "captains" have been shouting that hard times are going to come; but with our foreign trade increasing over $200,000,000 over last year and cotton and wheat away up, we do not see how a "panic" will find room to stand on in this busy country, do you?

Senator Tillman would like to see a Southern man nominated by the Democrats for president, but then he will have to content himself with the office of Texas.

Hoke Smith of Georgia or Daniel of Virginia" for the second place on the ticket. All of these able and honest Democrats are quite fit to aspire to the presidency. The nominee for vice president should always measure up to the standard fixed for president for in the future as in the past the vice-president may be called upon to serve as president.

TARIFF WAR.

While our standpatter Republican friends are enjoying the usufruct of their alliance with the tariff protected trusts, the tariff war with other countries is certainly and gradually undermining our foreign commerce. The State Department officials point out that our relations with France on the tariff question are in a very unsatisfactory condition and nothing can be done to mend them until Congress acts. Meantime, the officials say, there is good reason for believing that "France has decided steadily to increase the duties upon American imports to such an extent that in many instances they are likely to be prohibitive." As the republican majority in the House of Representatives is opposed to tariff reform and the Senate has refused to ratify the treaties for reciprocity with other nations, the prospect of the coming Congress enacting any law that will reduce the tariff schedules, how ever high and unreasonable, is out of the question.

The temporary arrangement with Germany will only exist until the next Congress has had an opportunity to pass on a reciprocity arrangement with that country, or enact a general tariff revision law that will admit imports from Germany on a basis that will satisfy that country and thus permit our exports to enter there at the minimum rates.

If the standpat faction prevails at the next Republican national convention, and that can hardly be doubted as nearly all the leaders are for "letting well enough alone" the present incipient tariff war, will reach an acute stage, and the real fight for commercial supremacy will be a very serious question.

To leave the tariff to be settled by "the friends of protection" will mean no settlement at all, but merely a continuation of the Republican policy, heretofore and now prevailing of protecting the trusts and making the balance of us pay the tax that trust high prices entail. The only relief that can come to those who feel that the present high cost of living is beyond their ability to pay or so onerous on their income as to compel the relinquishment of even the most simple and inexpensive pleasures, is through voting for Democratic candidates who favor tariff reform not only because the Democratic platform will declare for tariff reform, but also through the inherited traditions of the Democratic party on the tariff issue from the beginning of the government.

INDEPENDENT COMMENCEMENT

Kenton High School Graduates will Conduct Things on Their Own Hook.

Kenton, O., May 29.—There will likely be no commencement exercises in Kenton high school this year, the first for forty years, because two weeks ago Supt. N. E. Hutchinson issued an order through the principal that the senior class members must furnish all the music for the commencement program. The class voted to refuse to do this on the ground that the time for preparation was too short and that they were too busy with examinations and class day preparations. The superintendent thereupon declared the commencement exercises off and told the graduates to come to the high school door tomorrow and get their diplomas. He also denied the seniors the use of the high school auditorium for the class day exercises, and said he would telegraph Dr. R. D. Hollington, of Toledo, the orator selected for the class address, not to come. The senior class decided to get their diplomas and have a commencement and class day program of their own, independent of the superintendent.

A GRAY HORSE OF ANOTHER COLOR

Sample of Indelible Ink Proves Indelible All Right When a Valuable Gray Horse Rolled in Discarded Fluid.

Washington, May 29.—"Shut 'em and at main horse take a look," cried Leopold Schrader, rushing into the central police station.

Sergeant Tate went and saw a fine built cart horse dappled gray on one side and a vivid purple on the other. "Nature faker," he exclaimed. "Don't you know the president has forbidden that sort of taint?"

"Good," shouted Schrader. "Into the jailhouse him the gracious president will have put. Come."

Tate went and found Dr. Morton M. Dorset, chemist of the agricultural department who is to invent an ink at once indelible and harmless for stamping government inspected meat

AREONAUT KINKADE HAS SEVERE FALL

Parachute Lands in a Tree During the Descent.

Limb of the Tree Breaks and He Falls Fifty Feet to the Ground.

While making a parachute drop of 1,100 feet before the eyes of several hundred people at the South-Western real estate addition, south of the city, late Tuesday afternoon, T. H. Kinkade, an aeronaut from Crooksville, Ohio, caught in a tree and fell to the ground a distance of 50 feet. He struck, feet first, in a marshy spot, breaking the force of his fall, and doubtless saving his life. His left ankle was dislocated and his back sprained and body bruised. His injuries are not serious.

Kinkade's descent after cutting away from the balloon was more rapid than customary, and he had difficulty in following a direct course. He saw that he was falling toward the tree, and tried to avoid it, but was unable to do so. He caught on a dead limb of a tree and hung momentarily until the limb broke and let him fall.

The ambulance of C. F. Hess was called and the injured man was taken to the Dr. C. E. Sawyer Sanatorium, where Dr. A. M. Crane and Dr. J. W. Adair gave him surgical attention. Kinkade was scheduled to make an ascension at Lancaster, Thursday, but will have his partner give the exhibition in his stead. Kinkade is 35 years old and married.

BABY WAS FOUND AFTER LONG SEARCH

products. A tub of discarded samples had been poured into a B street gutter by a laboratory workman and Schrader's horse rolled in it, while the master was bringing a prospective purchaser to look at the animal, but the prospective purchaser fled from the purple horse to the nearest bar. The law officer of the agricultural department to whom Schrader and Tate were referred by Mr. Dorset, advised a wait to see if the dye wore off. Apparently, however, Dr. Dorset, has half succeeded in his task. The ink shows every evidence of being indelible.

"I will the Socialist ticket vote, yet," threatened Schrader as he sadly led away his purple horse.

Sunday morning, they are out $18 which was lost during the confusion which attended the baby hunt.

Early in the morning baby toddled away from home and it wasn't long until he was missed. The neighbors were notified and finally about 50 people were scouring the neighborhood looking for the tot. Some one reported they had seen the child crawling between a couple of cars in the Erie yards.

While the hunt was in progress the 15-year-old sister of the babe arrived home. She had been sent to buy some meat and had a bunch of greenbacks in her hand. She joined in the search and forget all about the money.

After a search of about two hours, the child was found playing on the Hocking Valley railway track near Silver street. When the excitement was over, the girl found the money had dropped from her hand.

In the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last night at 6:30 o'clock, there assembled a number of the most representative men of the Association, namely the bowlers. It was the occasion of the annual bowler's banquet, and it proved one of the most pleasant occasions of the season in Y. M. C. A. circles.

Twenty-five bowlers were present. After enjoying a three course banquet supper, chairs were pushed back and with L. B. McNeal acting as toastmaster, a number of eloquent speeches were made. Those who pounded on the bowling question, pleasant associations etc., were Amos Sanford, Homer Waddell, M. J. Templeton, Frank Tuttle, Frank McRill, Lowell Uish, Harry Fies B. D. Sutter, Edison Bush and others.

The distribution of the prizes won during the various contests of the season was the special feature of the occasion. Mr. McNeal in short, spicy talks, presented a score of prizes to the various champion bowlers. The Tigers team received the pennant for season champions of two years. Frank McRill, who had the high average of the season, received a fine bowling ball. Edison Bush, who rolled the high individual average of the season, was presented with a fine watch fob. Lowell Uish and Emmitt Burnett, who won first place in the two man tournament, each received a pair of bowler's slippers. James Fies, high average man of the tournament, received a fine bowling ball. Charles Mason, second high average man of the tournament also was presented with a bowling ball. The Orphans' team won the tournament (five man) and each member was presented with a gold scarf pin. Edward Pierson, who took third place in the tournament (singles) received a pair of bowler's slippers. Fies brothers, who took second place in the double tournament, were each awarded with a bowler's shirt.

The married men proved the more proficient in the art of punching the feather ball last night, when they indulged in an interesting volley ball contest with the champion single man's team.

The single fellows worked hard, but it wasn't a bit of use. With a little luck and some show playing the double-men walked from the floor with two out of three games to their credit.

The scores: Married, 18, 9, 18. Single, 15, 18, 11.

Lineups: Married—Brady, Clark, Tilton and Douthitt. Singles—Sycks, Lawson, Smith and Mickey.

THE FIRST CURTAIN CALL.
Voltaire One to Whom Original Honor Was Paid.

At the first performance in Berlin of Gerhart Hauptmann's "Jungfrau von Bismarck" the author was repeatedly called before the curtain, and the incident caused inquiry as to when and where the practice of honoring an author in that way originated. The Berliner Tageblatt gives this answer: "The first call took place on the evening of February 26, 1743. On that memorable evening Voltaire's 'Merope' was performed for the first time in Paris. The author was known to the Paris public, but nothing that they had seen of him had pleased them so much as 'Merope,' and the enthusiasm found expression in noisy demands to see the author. In a letter Voltaire says this of the incident: 'They dragged me out and led me by force to the box occupied by the Duchesse de Villars and her daughter-in-law. The whole theater seemed to have gone mad—all shouted to the duchesse to kiss me. The noise became so great that the lady finally obeyed. So I was like Alala Chartier, publicly kissed, but he was asleep, while I was wide awake.' Now authors answer similar calls by appearing before the curtain. They gain insofar that they can be seen better by their audience, but they must dispense with the duchess' kiss—at least in public."

NEURAL MACHINE SENT TO A DOCTOR

New York, May 29.—Detectives are trying to obtain a clew to the sender of a dangerous infernal machine which was received today by Dr. D. D. Dadirrian, a local physician.

When the machine was opened at police headquarters it was found to contain three shells loaded with shot, arranged to explode when the lid of the box was lifted. On the inside of the box was drawn a crude skull and cross bones, with the following scrawl: "We hope this will kill you. If it does not we will get you yet. Black Hand." Dr. Dadirrian believes that the machine was the work of some of his countrymen with whom he had factional differences.
